Low Vision Eye Doctor Helps Macular Degeneration Patients See Better

Just because you have macular degeneration or other eye diseases like diabetic retinopathy doesn't mean you must give up life's pleasures like reading, watching your grandchildren across the room, or seeing signs at a distance.

"People don't know that there are doctors who are very experienced in low vision care," says Dr. Thomas Azman, a low vision optometrist.

"Our job is to figure out everything and anything possible to keep a person functioning visually," says Dr. Azman.

Bonnie Dimuth, a low vision patient (pictured above), says "These telescopic glasses make driving much easier. I have to admit, I was a bit nervous about the way they looked, but now I am so happy with the way I see, I think they are beautiful."

Call for a low vision refraction and consultation with Dr. Azman to see if you are a candidate for a low vision examination:
